Two well-known Carmel old-timers die—Pop Smith and Bert Heron

Pop, 93, passes in Los Angeles

Cecil Moore "Pop" Smith, who for 25 years ran his own personal Carmel Chamber of Commerce, died Monday evening in Sawtelle Veteran's Hospital in Los Angeles. Burial will be Saturday at the Military Cemetery at Sawtelle.

He is survived by his son, George T.C. Smith of Carmel Valley, and two daughters, Mrs. L.L. Kaftan of Los Angeles and Mrs. J.W. Weir of New York.

Born in Putney, a suburb of London, England, in 1875, "Pop" would have been 93 in May.

From the time he came to Carmel in 1937 he was always a vital part of the local scene. He appeared as "bit player" in any number of plays at the Golden Bough and Wharf Theatres ...and acted the part of Santa Claus for the children of Fort Ord for about 12 years.

GOLF AT 67

At the age of 67, he took up golf for the first time and for the next 20 years managed to play almost every day at Pacific Grove Golf Course. "Pop" walking down the street with his golf clubs was a familiar sight. Among his trophies is one from the hole-in-one tournament at PG which he won.

Although his son, George T.C. Smith, is more famous around Carmel and Carmel Valley as a photographer, "Pop" was a master in the photography of dogs. He would attend the dog shows at Del Monte Lodge, just to take pictures of the animals.

Prior to his local history, he had led a most colorful life.

In the late 1880's he made his first trip around the world in a sailing ship as an apprentice in the British Merchant Marine.

In 1895, he forsook England and came to Hilltop, Colo. as an apprentice rancher.

CECIL "POP" SMITH

When the Spanish American War began, he was in Seattle and was one of the first Washington volunteers, spending the war in the Philippines.

During his travel through the West, he met his wife, Louella, in Red Bluff. He was in San Francisco during the earthquake of '06, and was a medic during the First World War.

It was in January of 1918 that his wife passed away and he stayed around the Bay area.

In 1927, Pop Smith broke his back working for an oil company in Martinez, but as later history proved...this didn't stop him for long.

At 86, he celebrated his birthday with the chorus girls at the Seven Pleasures (now the Sable Knight) in Monterey. He never stopped enjoying a pretty girl or a well turned leg. He lived life to the fullest in an era that can no longer be duplicated.

Heron, early mayor, actor, poet, was 84

The loss of two Carmel pioneers in two days is a great toll in the ranks of the oldtimers who made Carmel what it is. Herbert Heron, who founded the outdoor Forest Theatre and was responsible for much of development of the theatre in Carmel, died on Sunday, after a short illness.

Heron came to Carmel in 1906 when it was blossoming as a colony of writers and artists. After he found the natural bowl on Mountain View street and turned it into the historic outdoor theatre, he was responsible for many a premiere of new works in Carmel as well as Shakespearean drama. He, himself, appeared in many of them, between writing poetry and conducting a bookshop business, the only one in Carmel for a number of years.

ELECTED MAYOR

It was in 1930 that Bert was elected to the Carmel City Council, where he was mayor for two of the four years. Again in 1938 he was elected to the Council and again served a two year term as mayor.

He was a vital spirit in Carmel life and kept close track of civic happening long after his resignation from politics in 1941.

During Carmel's 50th anniversary he was honored at a gala banquet which coincided with the celebration of his 82nd birthday.

Bert is survived by his wife, Valeria, a daughter, Mrs. Constance Robinson of Carmel Valley, and a son, Frederick Heron of Sacramento.

Whenever anyone wanted to research the early day happenings in Carmel, Bert Heron could be counted on to recall the days that provide the heritage for the city of today...and he was always a vital part of them.

Hefling leaves bank

Tom Hefling, who has resigned as manager of the Carmel Valley branch of the Bank of America, told The Outlook that his future plans have not crystalized sufficiently to announce.

"They'll have to wait until after the Crosby," he commented, an event in which he has officiated for some years.

Officiating at the bank is Mason Carr, relief officer from Salinas, pending appointment of a new manager.

Sheriff promises action against illegal shooting

Every year, after Christmas, from the end of December and into February, there is a tremendous rise in the amount of destruction by 22 rifles and BB guns. Although in most of the Valley (technically from ridge to ridge) it is illegal to shoot any kind of firearms, windshields, plate glass windows, car headlights, house cats and street reflectors, fall prey to the muzzle of these Christmas gifts.

There are usually a few cases reported of near-misses to people standing in their yards.

Sheriff Jack Davenport cautions that all persons with guns who are using them illegally will be diligently tracked down. Arrests will be made and action taken against them.

Parents are advised to keep control of the use of these firearms by their youngsters... and not only to remember, but to explain to the kids and teenagers that it is against the law to shoot even a BB gun within the normal confines of Carmel Valley.

Sheriff Davenport added that there is another problem that is increasing in all areas of the county. It has become a practice for some teenagers to stand around gas stations, markets, barbershops, etc. and watch for a person to leave a car with the keys in it. These aren't necessarily kids who want to STEAL a car... they just want to DRIVE it.

Too often by the time it is recovered, sometimes only moments later, the vehicle has been rammed into something or someone else's car. Or, it is kept overnight, hidden and left for the Sheriff's Dept. or the owner to find.

Even if you are only going to run in to make a phone call, take the keys out of your car!

Recently one Valley resident left his new automobile for just a short while, keys in it. When it was recovered the next day the whole front end was smashed in. It can happen here... don't let it happen to you!

PERSPECTIVE

TO THE EDITOR

No park, trails

Editor, The Outlook:

Before the year is completely over, I feel I must write and get something off my chest.

The plan to use the land by our community center for a shopping centre seems a shame. In our Valley we have beautiful scenery, but due to poor planning, no trails to ride, walk or bicycle on — only a rather narrow road made for cars only.

There is no park to picnic in that is centrally located.

How much better to reserve this land right now for family use — with plans for trees, lawn, shrubs, barbecues, tables and benches to be added as time goes on. The swimming pool right at hand is convenient for a Saturday in the park.

Our shopping facilities in the Village seem adequate — must we go to large stores, neon lights and all the things that we may drive into town to see?

It's my hope that our area will remain quiet and a thing of beauty for all.

Your truly,
Betty Hansen

Curve strikes again

THAT CURVE just beyond Rosie's Cracker Barrel, in front of the Valpey's house, claimed another victim Wednesday night when the sports car driven by Howard Hardart of Hitchcock Canyon missed the vulnerable TREE and took out the driveway fence instead. The car was left there for several days, squished into the pickets.

It is now adorned with a magnificent psychedelic poster which reads, "He walked away, bye-bye. Will the next, die, die?"

Cecelia Valpey says it is the product of her husband's macabre sense of humor, but inspired by a Beatle song.

Audubon: 70 birds

AN AUDUBON SOCIETY birding expedition in November to the Carmel River mouth and later to the home of the Byington Fords at the CV Golf and Country Club and Barbara Robbins' home in the Valley, yielded an amazing (to un-seeing laymen) number of birds to those eagle-eyed watchers.

The count for the day included:

Common loon, artic loon, horned grebe, eared grebe, pied-billed grebe, brown pelican, great blue heron, Canada goose, mallard, wood duck, ring-necked duck, scaup, bufflehead, surf scoter, white-winged scoter, ruddy duck, Egyptian duck, Cooper's hawk, red-tailed hawk, red-shouldered hawk, sparrow hawk, Calif. quail, coot, snowy plover, killdeer, black-bellied plover, spotted sandpiper, greater yellowlegs, least sandpiper, western sandpiper, glaucous-winged gull, western gull, herring gull, Calif. gull, mew gull, Bonaparte's gull, Heermann's gull, Anna's hummingbird, red-shafted flicker, black phoebe, Say's phoebe, violet-green swallow, scrub jay, crow, chestnut-backed chickadee, bushtit, wrentit, Bewick's wren, hermit thrush, ruby-crowned kinglet, water pipit, starling, Audubon's warbler, yellowthroat, meadowlark, Brewer's blackbird, red-winged blackbird, house sparrow, house finch, lesser goldfinch, rufuous-sided towhee, brown towhee, savannah sparrow, white-crowned sparrow, golden-crowned sparrow, fox sparrow and song sparrow.

IN SHORT

Christmasy figures

THE ARTIST who created all the charming Christmasy figures which decorated Carmel Valley Village for the holidays, was Paul Elliott, who lives in the Valley. He describes himself as a jack of all trades, art work particularly where available. He is also holding down a job with Culligan soft water service.

From Kentucky, he attended Louisville Art Center School. He discovered our area when attending the Army Language School in Monterey from 1963-64, where he studied Russian. After OCS, he was shipped to Vietnam where he was in intelligence. Recently discharged from the Army, he decided Carmel Valley was for him. He's also busy illustrating and writing several children's books.

In travel agency

BILL McKENNA, who moved from Lower Circle, Carmel Valley, about a year ago, is entering partnership in a travel business in Chicago with Jack Barnhart, formerly of Rancho Rd., in the Valley. The McKennas have been living in Los Angeles this past year, where Bill was learning the travel business.

Sails on Te Vega

JACK POMEROY of Panetta Rd. left for San Diego last week to join the Te Vega, Stanford University's science ship which bases in Monterey. The beautiful ship is headed, with the help of Pomeroy as a crewman, for a six-month cruise off Central and South America. The schooner recently returned from a trip to Guayamas, Mazatlan and Acapulco.

Angling note

DON'T THROW away your old angling license, the Dept. of Fish and Game advised sportsmen today. Instead of buying a new one for 1968, the old license can be renewed by purchasing a validating stamp and necessary inland fishing stamps.

While the DFG admits this new procedure won't save you any money, it will save time because you won't have to fill out a new application.

The Rhyming Philosopher

We never must admit to growing old
Nor recognize we're getting bald or gray
So long as remedies are being sold
To keep us young until we're called away.

With colored hair or wigs to change our looks,
And undetected artificial teeth,
Though dieticians must derange the cooks,
It's easy to deny that Time's a thief.

We squeeze in tighter girdles to impress
Reluctant tummies for a slimmer girth;
And exercise to gain a suppleness
To actually prolong our stay on earth.
But comes a time we're face to face with truth--
There's no such thing as everlasting youth.

But just suppose the scientists succeed
In keeping bodies constantly renewed
With heart and lungs as doctors have conceived,
Would all our lives then reach infinitude?
But one more answer scientists must give--
Where in the world would all these people live?

Section of the Carmel Valley Outlook

Transplanted from Switzerland

Jeweler Corbat has put his roots down in Carmel

"The best move I ever made was to Carmel. I love this town ... and it has been good to me!" So exclaimed jeweler Henri Corbat.

Born in Bienne, Switzerland, the center of famous Swiss watch and jewelry making, Henri has transported this art to his shop on San Carlos in Carmel.

He is a graduate of the Horalogical Institute in Switzerland with a Master's Degree in watch making. In his shop is a pocket watch which was the required assignment in his seventh year at the school. Students were given nothing but a block of brass and a block of steel and from this each had to design and construct a watch that could not vary more than six seconds in 15 days. If it did ... no Master's Degree. The variation of Henri's watch was 3.2 seconds.

TO U.S. IN '52

He came to the United States in 1952 and worked for a jewelry shop on Cape Cod. He toured the United States and Mexico and picked San Francisco as his base in 1955. There he married Allana, who is from the San Joaquin Valley.

It was 1962 when he, Allana and their two daughters, Chantal who is 12 and Lucette who is 10, moved to Carmel.

Henri added to his European education by graduating from the Gemology Institute of America in Los Angeles as a certified gemologist and diamond appraiser. He has a complete lab for testing gems and is the only certified state gem appraiser in the area.

DESIGNS JEWELRY

Henri specializes in gold and precious jewels in the Swiss Jewelry Shop, and enjoys designing jewelry more than any other facet of his work. He prefers to design in the traditional manner ... no doubt, he says, because of his European training.

HENRI CORBAT

Henri's major activity in the community is with the French group, the Alliance Francaise, of which he was president in 1966.

He has been a member of other local organizations, but generally keeps to his work and just enjoys Carmel, which he says reminds him of his native Switzerland.

Nancy Thompson to wed Santa Barbara man

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Jr. recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Jeanne, to James Joseph Eskilson of Santa Barbara, at a joint dinner party given at Del Monte Lodge with the family of the groom-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Russel J. Eskilson.

The family party was held on Saturday, Dec. 30, and combined the engagement announcement with a birthday celebration for Mrs. Eskilson.

Other guests besides the immediate Thompson and Eskilson families included Mrs. Flora Eskilson Kontje of Santa Barbara (grandmother of the groom-to-be) and Miss Sharon Smith, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyn Smith.

The wedding is planned for late August at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel.

The bride is a student at University of California at Davis, where she is a sophomore. She graduated from Carmel High School in 1966.

She has a sister, Beth, who is in the eighth grade at Middle School and four brothers, Larry, a junior at UC-Davis; Bill, a senior at Carmel High; Bob, a sophomore at Carmel High, and Doug, a fifth grader at All Saints' Episcopal Day School.

Miss Thompson's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Sr. of Pacific Grove and the late Judge and Mrs. Thomas S. Doughty, of Ridgewood, N.J.

Mr. Eskilson is a 1964 graduate of Bishop Garcia Diego High School in Santa Barbara and is presently a senior at the University of California at Santa Cruz. He has two brothers, Russel Jr. and Randal, both of whom are students in Santa Barbara.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. Cerbioni of Florence, Italy, Mrs. Flora Eskilson of Santa Barbara and the late Russel C. Eskilson of Chicago, Ill.

Referendum petitions fight Sunset and motel rezoning

Councilman Gunnar Norberg of Carmel turned in 278 signatures on a referendum petition to repeal or call an election on the rezoning of motels in residential Carmel which passed the City Council by a 4-1 vote on Dec. 6. The petition was turned in Friday afternoon (Jan. 5) at 4:50.

The required number of signatures was determined by 10% of those registered voters who voted in the previous gubernatorial election. In Carmel this number was 2260, according to Norabelle Wright, election clerk.

Norberg opposed the zone change because he feels the spot zoning will allow future prospective motel or guest house operators to get permission on the basis that spot zoning permits have been given to others. Originally the existing ones which have been there for long periods of time, operated on a permit for a non-conforming use, and Norberg felt it should remain so.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

City attorney William Burleigh questioned the legality of Norberg's petition which carried 52 more signatures than required. He brought up the point of whether the petition must be filed by the 30th day after passage, or before the 30th day. If it was before, then he maintained that the zoning had gone into effect before receipt of the petitions.

Norberg told The Outlook that he had checked with election clerk Norabelle Wright in Salinas who stated that Jan. 5th was the deadline.

If the petition is declared valid, then the city clerk has ten days to determine the validity of the signatures. If there are enough found not valid to lower the number below the requirement, then Norberg has ten days to give a supplemental list.

If legal, Norberg stated, the result of the petition will be to put the rezoning change to a vote before the registered voters of Carmel, probably in April, and that in the meantime, the ordinances would not be invoked.

SUNSET PETITION

A second petition, against the rezoning of Sunset from residential to limited commercial is still being circulated. This one would be due in by Jan. 17, and Norberg said there are almost enough signatures on it now. Persons wishing to sign may do so in front of the Crocker-Citizens Bank Building on Dolores where a table is being maintained.

Norberg's objection to the Sunset change is that he feels that the north playground will be taken away and blacktopped as an off-street parking lot. He does not want playground use hampered. He also feels that the limited commercial opens the door to a variety of questionable uses such as restaurants, stores, commercial galleries and even possibly a bar or cocktail lounge which he feels are not complying with the intended use as a perpetual civic center for the people of Carmel.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

The Hilltop Ranch home of Mrs. GiGi Porter was the scene of a dinner party during the holiday festivities.

In addition to her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jay M. Porter and children, Kenneth and Michael, the dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nash of New York, Mrs. L.A. Bletzer of Hillsborough, Miss Nancy Bletzer of Carmel Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Johnson of Pacific Grove, their daughter, Heidi Gahwiler of San Francisco, Mr. Eric Nash of San Francisco, and Jerry Chylinski.

Mr. Chylinski is captain of the Te Vega, the 135 foot Stanford University research schooner which sailed Wednesday for the Galapagos Islands.

Miss Gahwiler and Mr. Nash were married Dec. 31 at a ceremony read at the home of Heidi's parents in Pacific Grove. The senior Nashes who have homes in both New York and Austria were very impressed with Carmel Valley and compared its beauty to that of Switzerland.

Former residents visiting friends and former neighbors during the vacation were Mr. and Mrs. David Erskine and daughters, Laurie, Lisa, Anne and Mary Beth. The Erskines who now make their home at Kentfield, made their headquarters at the Highlands Inn.

BRIDGE CLUB

Bridge fans, members of the Valley Bridge Club, met the day after Christmas at the Community Center. Following an evening of play, winners were: in first place, Roger Fonesca and Jim Lauderdale, Mrs. R. B. Stoney and Mrs. Arno Hanel in second place and a third place tie between the partnership of Mrs. Irene Baldwin and Mrs. Mary Angier and Jeff Hudelson and his partner, Maurice Stoney.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mead returned to their home on Boronda Rd. last Tuesday from holiday visits divided between their son and daughter and their families.

The Valley couple drove to Phoenix, Ariz., for Christmas with their daughter, son-in-law, and children, Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Farrell, Michael, 16, and Victoria, 13.

Their return trip home was made through Acadia where they were guests of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Mead, and children, Oliva, 18, and James, 15.

FOURTH GIRL

A stocking, hurriedly embroidered "Frances Sharon" was added to those which read, "Beverly, Toland, Lindy, Marian, and Laurie" that hung by the fireplace at the Doud home on Laurel Dr. Their fourth daughter was welcomed by Dr. and Mrs. Doud, Dec. 22, at the Community Hospital. She weighed 7 lbs. 15 oz.

Named "Frances" for her paternal grandmother, the baby's middle name is tinged with the romance of old California and the Sharon families (Toland's family) who settled from Virginia City, west.

Others who welcomed this special Christmas baby were her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Doud of Carmel, her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dowgiallo of Carmel and three aunts, Mrs. Robert Fischer of Carmel, Mrs. Robert Warren of Allendale, N.J., and Mrs. Jean Saint-Fort-Paillard who was phoned news of the arrival at her home in Maison Laffitte, France.

New Year's Eve at Will's Fargo found a dual birthday celebration at the Carter table where toasts were made to Mrs. Joe Carter who celebrates Jan. 2, and her daughter, Patti, whose birthday coincides with New Year's Day. Others making up the party were Mr. Joe Carter, Margy Carter, Mrs. Barbara Ascarate, Mrs. Kathy Scarlett, Ford Wolters, Michael Carter, and Marge's mother, Mrs. Frank Doucette of Los Angeles.

It had been 45 years since Mrs. Doucette had seen snow so the members of her family drove her to Incline Village where they stayed at Jim Large's chalet so that their southern guest was able to enjoy, first-hand, the beautiful winter scene.

Crosby earlier this year - Weatherman off guard ?

The 1968 Crosby Tournament is being held earlier this year than usual, and everyone wonders whether this will catch the weatherman off guard.

Practice play will begin on Wednesday, Jan. 10 and competition will start on Thursday, with golfers teeing off at all three courses: Spyglass Hill, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach.

Friday and Saturday will see play on the same three courses with the finals on Sunday at Pebble Beach.

Each foursome plays 18 holes each day for 72 holes. Tee-off times begin at 7:15 and continue at 8 minute intervals thereafter. 137 professionals and 137 amateurs will be paired for the tournament.

Prize money this year totals $104,500 with the top prize for professionals set at $16,000. Second place for the pros is $9,600. $20,000 of the prize money goes to the Pro-Am category with $2,700 as top prize.

On each of the first three days, the low pro will receive $1,000 with the second low score getting $500. There will be seven amateur trophies.

Spectators at the courses are asked to be considerate of the players since the click of a camera shutter at the crucial moment could mean the tournament for someone.

The Olympia Cable Car buses will be running from parking areas to the courses again this year, but the exact routes had not yet been determined as The Outlook went to press. However, signs will be posted to inform spectators and gatekeepers can direct them to parking areas.

There will be television coverage of the play on both Saturday and Sunday for those who wish to view from home.

Social Workers—Retired Regina Hicks

Regina by John

Photography, theatre, writing, living to the utmost, is everyday fare to the Hicks

The variety of photographs which John and Regina Hicks produce are as varied as the interests in their lives. In Carmel both are very active in the theatre and both are very active with their cameras. The photographic arts have been one of their newer interests. They built their first darkroom in 1964 when they moved to the Peninsula from Dallas, Texas.

John recalls setting up that first darkroom in a little house they had rented... it was built over a sink next to the brooms and ice box.

When they moved to their present home in Carmel Knolls, they built a new one to their liking and from there have been producing prize winning photographs, one after another.

John had been in radio and TV work all of his working life... most of it in Texas, although he was born in Kansas City, Mo. For five years before moving to Carmel, he was director of radio and television for a Dallas advertising agency. However, he has had his hand in every phase of show business — writing, acting, singing, playing and leading a band... on stage, radio, and TV.

They moved to Carmel..."because we liked it... and I wanted to see if I could become a writer... although I haven't seen it yet, I've been working at it," John mused.

He has written two novels since he has been here... one has just been reworked at his agent's request and is in the mail. It is a long historical novel, based in the New Orleans area during the Civil War.

The second one is fiction-based-on-fact and Regina (who types these manuscripts) says it could be called, "Birth of the Rock." It is not autobiographical, John says, but it is concerned with country-western show business with which he was long associated.

Regina was born in New York City, but also grew up in Texas. She met John at University of Texas at San Antonio.

She had been involved in little theatre and summer stock, from the age of 14, and after their three children became old enough to be at school she went back to work at the Dallas Theatre Center.

Their three boys are following somewhat in the family footsteps. Bill, the oldest, is married and is an editor of college textbooks for a Palo Alto publishing firm.

Ken, who is 21, is in his junior year at Grinnell College in Iowa where he is majoring in drama, and Bob is a freshman at George Fox College in Oregon... and is playing bass in a band on the side.

Even Charlie, the dog, auditioned for the Circle Theatre production of "Luv." His understudy played on opening night but Charlie seems confident that he'll be back on the boards soon.

Both John and Regina and their sons have been involved in the American Field Service student exchange program.

In Dallas, an AFS student from Mendoza, Argentina, stayed with them the year before they moved to Carmel. At that time, Ken spent a year as exchange student in Holland. Last year, when Bob was a senior at Carmel High School, he was president of AFS.

As if they didn't have more doing than two or three routine families, both of the Hicks have just signed a contract to produce the photographic illustrations for a college psychology textbook on human socialization.

They are attempting to make each illustration supplement the book instead of repeating. Half will be realistically posed, one quarter will be stylized and one quarter will be candid... but quite a large percentage will have a humorous touch.

This should come easily because both John and Regina have a zest for life and fun that seems never-ending... and often their sense of humor is what makes their photographs exceptional.

Former residents who now make their home in Cave Junction, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Medkeff, saw many of their old friends during a brief business and pleasure pre-holiday visit. While here, Kathy and Harold were guests on Lilac Lane of Evelyn and George Jennings.

FLORIDA VISITORS

Recent guests on DeAmaral Rd. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes have been Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Johnson of Palmetto, Fla. The Johnsons who had spent the holidays in Arizona with their son continued on to California so that Mr. Hughes and Mr. Johnson, who had been childhood friends, could begin a new year together.

The Hughes' daughter, Wendy, has returned from Harrisburg, Pa. She flew east with her friend, Ginnie Keller, and the girls spent part of their holidays with Ginnie's family.

* * * * * * * *

Mrs. Patricia DeAmaral hosted a potluck dinner and children's Christmas party for members of the Parents Without Partners organization.

Some forty-five adults and children arrived at the DeAmaral home on Ford Rd. where they enjoyed community singing, the dinner, and a Santa pinata for the children.

OPEN HOUSE

An open house for entire families of neighbors and friends that has become a tradition on Country Club Dr. was celebrated once again this Christmas Eve by Freda and Frank Bresk. Their daughters, Helena, Lydia, and Anita helped to bake the cookies, Christmas bread and coffee cakes while their sons, Paul and Carl, prepared the punch.

The children and adults took advantage of the warm afternoon sunshine to play badminton, volley and basketball.

Another holiday tradition which began many years ago at the Bresk home is their buffet dinner party which was held this year the Friday before New Year's.

Fifty guests enjoyed the holiday gathering including Mr. and Mrs. Harold Medkeff who were here from Oregon and Mr. and Mrs. David Erskine who are now residents of Kentfield.

Former residents, Emily and Tor Meeland and daughter, Kelda, who have returned from Thailand and now reside in Menlo Park were unable, at the last minute, to attend the Bresk gathering but look forward to a visit with their many Valley friends in the near future.

CV CC for identity, Village master plan

"A Year of Identity for Carmel Valley" will be the CV Chamber of Commerce theme this year, new Pres. Tom Bottaro announced at the directors' meeting Thursday last week at Plaza Linda Restaurant.

"Carmel Valley means many things to many people," Bottaro commented. He urged the Chamber to work on relocating postal boundaries, so that all of Carmel Valley will have CV addresses, instead of half with Carmel addresses as now. He also suggested inquiring of the telephone company on the possibility of making phones in the entire Valley with one prefix.

The directors agreed, at the suggestion of Lou Gardner, to re-activate a committee to work on a detailed master plan for the Village.

He pointed out that a Village Master Plan committee had been formed about three years ago with the CV Property Owners Association and the CV Commercial Property Owners Association, but that it had died.

Dr. Ed Marcucci of the County Planning Commission said that he was disappointed when nothing was done after the county had spent considerable money several years ago to work up a suggested plan for the Village.

Mae Youngberg added that a request for converting some commercial zoning in the Village to apartments a couple years ago had died, but that such possibilities emphasize the need for a master plan.

Pres. Bottaro declared that the Chamber's image needs to be rebuilt with local residents and that he hopes the organization will do so by providing constructive leadership in accord with the wishes of the community.

"We must keep in mind that the Valley is what it is because of the beautiful mountains, the weather and the people, and that we are not out to ruin it, but to help guide its inevitable development to preserve its attractiveness," he said.

The directors voted a resolution of thanks to retiring president Ken Van Hagen. He reported that the Coro Foundation will not answer the Chamber's request to up-date the incorporation study until March or April.

Banquet Jan. 19

Reservations should be made immediately for the annual installation dinner for Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce Friday, Jan. 19 at CV Golf and Country Club. They should be phoned to Mrs. J. Black, secretary.

Cocktails will be at 7 and prime rib dinner at $6.65 per person will be at 8.

Supervisor Willard Branson will be featured speaker and gold "good egg" awards will be presented.

Program committee includes Dr. Ed Marcucci, M. A. "Skip" Marquard, Tom Hefling and Ken Van Hagen.

Today, there are high-grade corporate bonds available with yields approaching and often exceeding 6%. With some recently issued bonds, a 6% interest rate is promised by the issuing corporation for 5, 10 or more years. There have been only a few times in the past 40 years when bonds of this quality have returned so high a yield. The same is true of municipal securities when their tax advantages are taken into consideration.

Few quality investments offer a fixed rate of return for such extended periods of time.

Elections to be held

CVPOA general membership meeting set for January 11

The first general meeting in 1968 of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association will be held tomorrow (Thursday, Jan. 11) in the multi-purpose room of Tularcitos School at 8 p.m.

The first matter on the agenda is the election of new officers for the coming year. The nominating committee, consisting of Mason M. Rhodes, chairman, Stanley Johnson, Nancy Marzi, James K. Miller and Lloyd Swanson has recommended a slate of officers, and nominations will be accepted from the floor as well.

Those selected by the nominating commitee are: president, Ruth Dodd; vice president, Emil C. Hansen; secretary, Richard Kern; treasurer, Stanley T.B. Johnson; directors, Frank Bresk, Louis J. Bruener, Mrs. Jo Estelle Cleary, Ben Dahle, Mrs. Barbara Sherman, Col. St. E.P. Tyner, C.L. Underwood, Richard Wilsdon and Mrs. John Woolfenden.

After the election, director of the County Planning Dept. Ed DeMars will speak to the membership. His discussion will be in answer to the following questions:

What effect do letters, opinions, and recommendations from CVPOA and other organizations have on the final decisions reached by the Planning Commission?

What is the Planning Commission's definition of a scenic easement?

What are the dimensions of the revised subdivision ordinance and how will it affect property and people in Carmel Valley?

Funds needed for park

Nature Conservancy takes option on Jack's Peak land

A park on 55 acres at the ridge of Jack's Peak appeared to be approaching reality last week when the Nature Conservancy signed an option with the Jack's Peak Trust to purchase the property for $165,000.

John McDaniel of the Nature Conservancy (Monterey chapter chairman) told The Outlook that it is necessary to raise $45,000 by the Feb. 5 deadline in order to meet a loan obligation incurred by the Jack's Peak Trust. The trust has been holding the parcel for the past three years to attempt to fulfill the desire of the prior owner, Mrs. George Dutton, that the property be preserved as a public park.

The Nature Conservancy hopes to expand the park through scenic easements acquired from adjacent property owners in order to keep the peak and ridgeline intact. Land on other sides of the 55 acres is owned by Del Monte Properties, Dudley Swim, Mrs. Howard Hatton and Carmel-Hawaii, developers of Del Mesa Carmel adult community.

The Nature Conservancy, according to McDaniel will act as a holding company until arrangements can be made to turn the property over to a local government agency such as Monterey County.

If at any time the property is used for anything other than a public park, then it will be returned to the original Jack's Peak Trust. The trust consists of Kenneth Ehrmann, Gordon Hall and Talcott Bates.

Assemblywoman speaks to Demos

Assemblywoman March Song (D-Alameda) was the featured speaker at the meeting of Monterey County Democrats held last Saturday at La Playa Hotel

The meeting was sponsored by the Monterey County 1968 Democratic campaign committee, recently organized at the request of Assemblyman Charles Warren,

Chairman of the Monterey County Committee is Attorney Lesle Dixon. Gordon Johnson of Carmel Highlands heads the precinct organization subcommittee of the Monterey group.

Miss Ruth Dodds of Carmel Valley is in charge of issues and opinion sampling and Win Griffith heads communications

Two Carmel Valley houses with same floor plan are as different as can be

Outlook's new house feature

Interesting homes in Carmel Valley and Carmel will be the subject of a new feature in The Outlook. New houses, old houses and middle aged houses will be shown and discussed. If the architects or designers are available for comment, we shall also include information from them as to their philosophy of design.

This week two homes with the same floor plan are discussed.

Louise and Jim Friday moved into their new home in Los Tulares a year ago July and they love it more every day.

Jeanette and Lloyd Swanson moved into theirs a year ago August, and she says it has made their life even better than it was before.

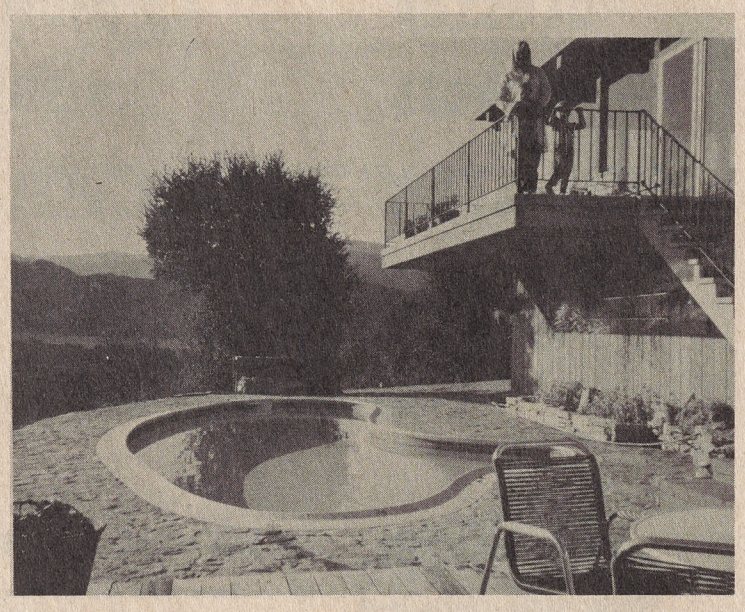
An interesting sidelight is the fact that the two houses have exactly the same floor plan. However, upon entering each of them you'd never realize it because they appear so different.

Of course, the furnishings are not the same, but the entire feeling of each house is distinctly individual.

The exposures are in opposite directions. The Friday house faces east with a view toward Cachagua and the Wilson ranch, while the Swanson house faces southwest and has a commanding view toward the Village and lower Valley.

Jim and Louise's home is on five acres at the end of the road. They have a different scene from each room in the house... but they do not see another sign of human habitation, no houses, no people.

Jeanette and Lloyd's house has a view sparkling with lights at night as they look toward the populated areas of Robles del Rio and Carmel Valley Village.



THE LIVING ROOM and dining area of the Friday house open onto a balcony overlooking the pool. Large walls of glass open the home to sweeping vistas of Upper Carmel Valley. Louise Friday and children, Kimi and Jymi Lynn, look out toward the rolling hills of Rancho Chupinos.

Each has three bedrooms and three baths, with two at one end of the house and the third one adjacent to the kitchen. Separating the two sections of the house, placed between the living room and the smaller bedroom, is a glassed-in atrium, reached by sliding glass doors from each side.

Lush green planting with a dicondra floor gives a tropical feel to the atrium in the Swanson's house.

A dry and sunshiny, almost Southwest atmosphere is offered by the atrium in the Friday house with its big desert cactus.

Both houses were designed and built by Jack Rauber who is developing the Los Tulares subdivision.

Features which he stresses are a lot of handmade tile in the dining room, kitchen, and bathrooms and massive rough stone fireplaces. Heavy beams and rustic wood interiors are another trademark of a Rauber house. He also plans a swimming pool with each of his homes, usually adjacent to a glassed area in the living room so that the view of the pool and plantings may be enjoyed from within.

The Swanson's house is the TONES OF OLIVE green predominate in the tiled floor of the dining area. The heavy wrought iron chandelier and the hand hewn redwood table complete the rustic decor.

THE ATRIUM between the living room and a bedroom in the Lloyd Swanson house can be entered from either room through sliding glass doors. It is completely glass enclosed and the Swansons plan to use it as an indoor garden dining room.

only one built by Rauber that does not have a pool. The Friday's house is built on the side of a hill, so their pool is placed at a lower level and is reached by a balcony and steps from the living room.

The site also makes a difference in the approach to each house, since the garage is under the Friday house, and the car port is at house level and visitors enter through an extended overhang and into a closed patio at the Swanson house.

Both of the women enjoy the kitchen which is open and separated by a counter from the dining area. The high counter is fitted with stools so that informal meals may be served there, instead of at the table.

Jack started designing houses in the Palm Springs area when property owned by his father proved a massive problem to build on because of the terrain. He developed it and got into the building business at the same time.

When he came to Carmel Valley in 1961, he built the house near the top of Laurel Drive for Inga Britt Ringrose. About that time, he also started negotiating for the 200 or so acres on which he is now building homes, two miles east of the Village.

Rauber doesn't make a habit of building the same house more than once, since he designs each for the site it occupies. But these two which are the same in floor plan show how different twins can be.

A FIREPLACE constructed of huge chunks of stone is a special feature of houses which Jack Rauber designs. Ashley and Kent can enjoy the fire from the living room or the dining room on the other side.

COUNTRY CLUB GATE

If you have the feeling that your leisure time is eluding you, take a moment to consider

Del Monte Properties'

a new concept of carefree living

This development of individually sited, handsome Garden Homes, brings the concept of relatively maintenance-free leisure living to buyers on a heavily wooded nine acre site. Pebble Beach Golf Links, Spyglass Hill Golf Course, Cypress Country Club, the Seventeen Mile Drive, world famous Del Monte Lodge, and the beautiful Beach Club are within five miles of the site. Carmel, historic Monterey, Pacific Grove, Carmel Valley, the jet served Monterey County Airport, and the awe inspiring Big Sur country are all within minutes.

This program will appeal to both the "weekenders" or second home buyers and also to the year-round residents who no longer are interested in yard work and exterior maintenance, but who prefer to spend their leisure time enjoying the many pleasures of the Monterey Peninsula.

The homes have been designed to provide large entertaining areas, attractive modern kitchens, luxurious dressing and bath areas, large bedrooms, ample closets, attached two-car garage, fireplaces, and many other fine features.

Country Club Gate will be surrounded by a scenic forest greenbelt in perpetuity and will be a charming, sealed, park like area. The ground is being leased from Del Monte Properties on a long term basis (98 years). All exterior maintenance and garden up-keep will be contracted for and each home owner will pay his share of the cost to the condominium association.

- Adjacent to Country Club entrance to Forest
- Estimated monthly maintenance cost, including land rental, $68.54
- Priced from $33,900 to $36,900

GOLFERS

If you've been looking for your new home in the Country Club, you've probably discovered how hard it is to find a really interesting two bedroom in a top location. This is why we're all so delighted to offer you an architect's home which is refreshingly "different" without being way-out or so far off beat you'd feel you're living in a museum piece.

The tiny little entry garden pleases the eye right off, while you're waiting for the front door to be opened. Then walk into a modern Keeping Room, that old-fashioned combination of entry, family room, and in this case the entry to the rear garden also. Terrazzo floors, so beautiful and such easy care, make this garden entrance practical as well. And this may be the best place to mention that the rear garden is small and perfect, with a manicured lawn which really delights the eye.

Up a couple of steps into an unusual living room with 14 ft. high redwood ceiling, paneled redwood walls, and a striking adobe and slate fireplace — AND a wonderful ocean view from the beautifully scaled windows. Nylon fleece carpeting to keep this room the quiet and peaceful place it seems even at first glance. Up a few more steps to a master bedroom — its view is Pt. Joe — with a convenient dressing-bath arrangement. Downstairs, a very similar "master bedroom."

Through the "keeping room" again, and you're delighted to find those handsome terrazzo floors extended into the kitchen. ("How I wish I'd had these floors when my two sons were small!" said the owner.) And Oah la la! What a kitchen! It even has a Char-Broil. Exposed beams, rough-finish pine.

And such nice odds and ends of items: a doggie door, separate fenced service yard, drain tile all around the house, the beautiful condition of the painted redwood siding exterior, the sun-trap back terrace. And you know what? The price is only $53,500. The owner would lease back for 6 months, if you're not quite ready to move, too. May we show you right away? It's such a pleasure!

Huge 6 foot pipes for Rancho drain project

Final twin links in the $277,000 drainage system for the Carmel Rancho property is under way to Carmel River from the vicinity of Rio Road, manager Harry Bell of the development firm said this week.

The huge six-feet corrugated steel pipes recently trucked to the area will be the final link, costing $52,000 of the total.

BOTH SIDES

They will be buried on both the east and west edges of the property connecting from lines already in place, and will pour water into Carmel River.

Bell pointed out that the Rancho property is providing drainage for more than 1,000 acres clear to the top of Aguajito.

He suggested that in the future studies should be made on the possibilities of drainage districts to spread the cost of handling water more equitably. As it is, each property owner is required to provide for handling the water from above, which means the major expense falls on the last recipient of the run-off.

"This is a problem which is going to oxxur more and more often as the mountain sides of Carmel Valley are developed," he warned.

He emphasized that the final development to the Carmel River is being done only after consultation with the State Dept. of Fish and Game and adjoining property owners.

"We want to be sure that the river and river banks will not be damaged," Bell explained.

RIP-RAP

Rip-rap, including rocks weighing 200 lbs. and more set in cement, will be built to face the outlets of the big six-foot pipes on the opposite side of the river.

The project will eliminate the 13-acre "dump," as Bell termed the area, between the river and Rio Rd.

Foundations to bear the large pipes and surrounding cement will be imbedded to a depth of 40 feet, he added.

CV Kiwanis meeting

Clifford asks ideas to aid Community Center crisis

The continuing financial crisis of the Carmel Valley Community Center was emphasized at last week's CV Kiwanis meeting by George Clifford, treasurer of the Community Center.

The Kiwanis Club agreed to take on a much-needed landscaping program for the Center.

Clifford credited the CV Lions Club with plans for a major contribution to construct a patio with a fence at the Center.

Kiwanis plans to implement a beautification plan for the entrance and the sides of the Center building, which was drawn up by Doyt Early.

Clifford asked for suggestions to solve the financial problem of the Center. "The board, which consists of a few public-spirited volunteers, is expected to do everything and is blamed when things go wrong," he commented.

TWO DRIVES

Two finance drives were necessary this past year to keep the Center solvent and another will probably be necessary in the spring, he pointed out. "Some other way to finance the Community Center is necessary," he added.

Clifford said he was not in favor of one proposed solution to financing — turning the Center over completely to the school district.

Basic expenses, Clifford explained, include $173 a month for the mortgage, utilities and custodian. The original building costs $20,000, but was mortgaged to help provide the $37,000 for the swimming pool, he said.

The Carmel Unified School District does a good job, he declared, of operating the summer swimming program. The Center got back about $1,200 last year for its share of swimming fees.

The Community Center is finally being accepted by tax authorities as a non-profit organization, which after next April will save about $1,000 in annual property taxes, Clifford revealed.

100% AWARD

New Pres. Kevin Walsh of Kiwanis took over at Tuesday's meeting and outlined an active program for the coming year.

Dr. Dean Campbell was praised for achieving 100% participation in inter-club attendance by local Kiwanians. CV Kiwanis expects to be awarded the district inter-club trophy at the district installation banquet Jan. 20 at Holiday Inn at the mouth of the Valley.

Hartnell offers landscape course

An evening class in landscape horticulture will be offered at the Hartnell College East campus Monday from 7 to 10.

Raymond O. Peterson, for 10 years an instructor of horticulture at San Francisco City College and now owner of a commercial nursery in Soquel, will instruct the new class.

The class will feature landscaping techniques, plant propagation, pruning, fertilizing and other cultural requirements of ornamental plants.

Catalogues for the spring semester of the Hartnell Evening College are now available in the general offices of the school.

We're now 40 years old.

SO WHAT.

So what? So we now have assets in excess of $165,000,000, and customers numbering well over 53,000, and six convenient locations, and 40 years of experience, and an excellent record of operations. We don't want a medal or anything. Just thought you'd like to know.
